

Baltimore, shown to a cut-under; Phoebe Walton, shown to a cut-under; Emperor, saddle and gig. These entries were shown with such speed and action—sudden stop in Richmond—the crowd yelled itself hoarse. The judges asked Mr. Vanderbilt to show Dr. Silwone again, and Lord Baltimore also went.

The judges gave Dr. Silwone championship and Lord Baltimore reserve. Class 33—saddle horses, champion class—Reliance, Mr. Ledew up; Durham, Mr. Antoni up; Lady McDonald, Miss Doremus up.

As could be easily imagined, this was a very hot class, the judges finally giving the awards to Durham, first and championship; Lady McDonald, second. Class 22—harness horses, pairs; champion class—brought out Lady Watson and Viscount No. 1, George Watson; Lord Baltimore and My Maryland as No. 2; Fairmont Farm; Phoebe Walton and Miss Tempest as No. 4. Sunday, Oct. 15, Farnsby.

Again Lord Baltimore and My Maryland proved themselves invincible. They were as perfectly matched as it is possible to get a mate to Lord Baltimore, his boldness of action and general carriage being wonderful. The ribbons went to Lord Baltimore and My Maryland, blue; Lady Watson and Viscount reserve.

Class 48, champion class, lightweight hunters, to be shown over four jumps at four feet six inches each. There were no poor entries in this class. Onerios tipped the brush and then the rails. Chief tipped the rails.

Over the Jumps.

At this stage of the game it was suggested that the championship classes should be shown over eight jumps and not four, as the catalogues called for. The judges, after a long wait, decided to have four and Cygnet was brought in and went clean. Keswick tipped the rails and then went clean. George E. Davis, after hesitating badly at every jump, went clean. Firelight with Garrison up, went clean. Majesty, after going clean for three jumps, refused the rails and then rapped. Ardsley knocked the rails down and then went clean. Midlothian tipped the rails.

The judges had them brought in for conformation judging and sent all the horses except the following from the ring: Onerios, Firelight, Keswick, Chief and George E. Cain.

After another close inspection they were sent over the jumps again, going as follows: Onerios clean; Firelight clean; Keswick clean; Chief, after going over two jumps clean and brilliantly, slipped on the turf and went down hard. He afterwards went with one tip. George E. Cain tipped the rails, and then knocked them down. Keswick got the knock; Firelight the reserve.

The High Jump.

In the high jump class, Cracker Jack entered; Onerios and Red Raven post entries; the winner of this class was just 45, when the fair faithful "white wings" began piling up the poles. The crowd waited, not a soul leaving the building, Kelley, the "grave-digger," began giving instructions to the other white wings, and it was over.

As Onerios, Red Raven and Cracker Jack were led into the ring the crowd stopped talking and waited for the last buckle to be fixed to the rider's girth. The bars were at five feet, and the bars were at five feet.

Sidney Holloway mounted Onerios and went over with the utmost ease. Charley Ryder then mounted Crackerjack and went over the bars by a foot. Red Raven would not do the same thing which he did.

More "instructions" were given, and the bars were then placed at five feet six inches. Onerios came at it like a thousand of brick, and went over, the rider good, the horse not quite good enough. On the second try, refused, on the third refused and out.

Crackerjack made a game try, but the bars were pulled up, the track being seven feet, which took to him. The bars were at five feet six inches. Onerios came at it like a thousand of brick, and went over, the rider good, the horse not quite good enough.
